

“BELIEF IN VALUE BASED DECISION MAKING”

Datta Yewale

From my high school days, I dreamt to be an army officer and serve my nation. When I failed to pass my Army Physical test, I was unhappy but thought will get a chance to reappear. But life had other plans, I had to discontinue my studies due to emergent family financial crisis.

Quench for knowledge pushed me to work hard and restart my studies. That's easier said than done. Focusing on my new job and studies, at times I felt I knew nothing and sailed through a challenging dark zone.

From this nothingness to chisel out each meaningful day became my "Goal of Life".

During the journey, from a contract clerk to Customer - Sales and Service, I had several opportunities to dwindle and make decisions which would have elevated my career graph but depressed my Belief & Value System. I take decisions based on my Values. I believe in Hard work and value Honesty and Knowledge Sharing.

Knowledge sharing strengthens professional ties and deepen our own knowledge. Knowledge Sharing with our colleagues is a great service. It gives you an opportunity to think about others and not just yourself.

Today, with pride I say that I am a Happy Cargosolite, completed my graduation, had multiple opportunities to enrich and enhance my job within the organization with the support of my seniors and team.

Life sways!!! Dream Fades!!! but the innate nature of serving shines through in me through knowledge sharing.
